Our store has been in the hands of the carpenters, painters, plumbers and paper hangers, and now we are about ready with our new salesrooms. Of course they are not yet complete. There are a few additional improvements which we expect to make later when our busy season is over, but we are ready for business now.

Year - - - - $1.50

Gettysburg, Pa., Wednesday, Nov. 18, 1903

Born President Roosevelt and Governor Penry have issued their Thanksgiving proclamations for Thursday, Nov. 26th.

DAVID MACLAY, of Franklin county, is going to give Congressman Thad. M. McLean a chance for the Congressional nomination next year. It is said that it will be a fight for the leadership in Franklin county between State Senator Alex Stewart and Congressman MacLean.

A subscriber cheers us by saying, "Since I have been taking your paper, I find that I cannot get along without it each week. It certainly is a fine newspaper. I always look with interest for the next issue. It did me good to read that Democracy won in old Adams."

COLONEL ALEXANDER K. MCCLURE, for many years editor of the Philadelphia Times, was given the lucrative appointment last week of Prothonotary to the Supreme Court, to fill vacancy caused six months ago by death of Charles S. Green. The appointment was made by Supreme Court. It is said that Colonel McClure landed by reason of the influence of Quay, in return for favors received several years ago. The appointment is practically for life.

IT is certainly some little gratification to know that at the last election Snyder fell a good many thousand votes behind his ticket. There were some thousands who were not willing to support a man who had dealt our liberties such a foul blow as to support the bill let it be at the dictates of the Machine. It was hoping against hope to expect the apathy struck Republicans in Pennsylvania to turn to a breaking of the machine factors. Yet that Snyder was out by so many thousands is a hopeful sign.

Governor Lefever has not said that he is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket next fall. He does not have to. He is the best advertised man of the district today. His work in getting rural free delivery is being announced from day to date. He talks about a bill for better pay for carriers. He sees to it that his name is associated with the matter of pensions. It looks at times as if there was a press bureau working in his interests. He doesn't have to make any announcement. Yet this ought to be a Democratic district.

FULTON county may have an odd question on hand as the result of the late election. The term of the present district attorney expires Jan. 1. Neither Democrats nor Republicans nominated a candidate. M. R. Shaffer, rec'd six votes for the position, both the office and name being written in. It is claimed he is elected though the official ballot did not contain words "For District Attorney, Mark One." Fulton people are asking for opinions on the subject, but that may be up to Judge Swope soon.

The grand jury last week reported that the steward's house and the old woman's house at the almshouse needed an overhauling, especially the old woman's building. The building is in a dilapidated condition and almost unfit for habitation. In conclusion they strenuously recommended the erection of a suitable building for the home of those poor old unfortunate.

For a third time has a grand jury condemned the old woman's building. In the face of this fact the Directors of the Poor and the County Commissioners can not refuse to act. They have assumed an awful risk for months. If any accident should happen at this building which would be the result of its condition, any officer responsible therefor could be liable under the charge of gross negligence after these condemnations would be impossible to defend.

A visit to this building can not fail to convince every one of the justness of the condemnation of grand juries. The brick wall has cracked at places and sags. The walls of the rooms have cracked. The roof is about as good as none. There is evidence at a number of points that rains must go through and down through the rooms and those who are there say in rain storms the house is practically uninhabitable. As compared with the other buildings everything is poor and bad and inconvenient.

The old men's house and insane departments will be found heated from a central plant in the cellar. But go to the old woman's house and you will find eleven stoves in the building, and many of them are expected to tend their own fires. They are feeble, tottering and weak when trying to drag up coal and wood and stand over the great labor of an attendant to do it, and watch them and see that the fires were not interfered with or that no danger results. It is simply marvelous that there have been no serious accidents.

The condition of everything demands that it should no longer be continued. A new building is wanted and that right away. Those responsible for the management of the institution should see to it at once that steps are taken to follow out the recommendations of the grand jury. They should make it their duty to see how quickly and how well the work can be done.

After the exhibition they were banqueted and the memory of the occasion brought to them a sensation of good feeling.

There Has Been Trouble to the Hope Hose Company of Chambersburg over an excursion to Gettysburg. The Company was here on Sunday Oct. 4, and went over the battlefield. There was behavior on the train and here which caused Francis E. Kuss, who is declared to be one of the most faithful members of the Company, to speak his mind as to conduct of some of his fellow members. This provoked so much bitterness that he was expelled last week from the company.

Almost Asphyxiated. Several fortunate happenings saved Samuel Andrews and his wife from asphyxiation on last Thursday night at their residence on York street. The cause of the trouble was a paroxysm they had had five years which had never given trouble before. Coming home Thursday evening coal gas was on a low fire and it afterwards concluded the fire was out to start up again, igniting the gas which was forced into the bed room and caused the fire. On returning immediately, Mrs. Andrews raised the window, was awakened in the morning and tried to dress and fell three times and the noise of third fall awakened her husband. He came to her assistance to be prostrated himself. In come way, Mr. Andrews managed to get down stairs and into the yard where she was seen by Mr. Weaver, the drayman, who helped her back into the house when she fainted. Mr. Weaver soon had assistance from neighbors and Dr. J. Scott was summoned. It was several days before Mr. and Mrs. Andrews felt right again.

A GOOD NAME.—From personal experience I testify that it is worth a little pull. They are rightly named because they give strength and energy and do their work with ease. W. T. Estes, Boston, Mass., has a few little girls in his shop, each little girl in preference to all others because they are so pleasant and effectual. They cure biliousness, torpid liver, jaundice, sick headache, constipation, etc., not purges and weakens but cures and strengthens. So'd by M. B. Buehler.

REPORTED COST OF 40TH ANNIVERSARY
ONE HUNDRED AND TEN PERSONS SUBSCRIBED THE AMOUNT NEEDED.

The Money Was Spent in Advertising Event, Entertainment, Decorations, Music, Fine Works and Visiting Firemen.

Last week was given the total of receipts and expenditures connected with the celebration of the 40th Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg last July. It is interesting to note that 100 persons subscribe the amount needed. The largest subscribers were those from the hotels and restaurants, running from $150, $72, $50, $25, $20, to $20. Of the other contributors who gave $20, three $25, four $20, seven $15, fourteen $10, one $8, one $7.50, fifty-five $5, two $3, five $2.50, ten $2 and one $1. Beside amount subscribed there was received $4.24 from returned postage and $72.50 from Stationery Committee, making a total to be charged to the debtor side of $132.71.

Thirty-five dollars of the amount subscribed has not been paid in, the reason for $5 of Edw. A. Weaver being that he did not receive a single party at his place and hence did not profit by anniversary. The chairman of the ownership of the stock of the Transit Company has likewise been the cause of delay from that quarter. Of the $73.50 received by Stationery Committee, $60.50 was spent for envelopes and paper distributed to seventy-four persons who paid for the use of the same.

The balance of money—all but forty-four cents in treasurer's hands—$139.80 was disbursed in the following way: The entertainment of distinguished guests, hotel bills, carriage hire, etc., came to $105.15. Thousands of invitations were printed and sent out to distinguished men, soldiers, G. A. R. Posts, Sons of Veterans Camps and other organizations and the bill for printing, stenographer and postage came to $77. Thousands of posters were printed and sent all over the country at a cost of about $124.08. Then about $65.50 was spent in trips to various events, to try to get the old Liberty Bell and the President here. On the arch in square, number, handing work trimmings $1.94 was spent. Over $300 was spent in $125 to the Gettysburg Band, $150 to the 8th Cavalry Band and to the drum corps. Some of the clothing, etc., of members of the 8th Regt. Band were stolen and it took $20.35 to pay the bill. The fireworks cost $90.05. The entertainment of the visiting fire companies came to $69.57. The decorations of the speakers' stands at different points cost $54.87. The programs came to $18.55 and other stationery expenses $14.50, thus making the total of $1219.80.

A Contradiction.

What was said last week in this column about the marker and tree behind it on East Cemetery Hill brought forth a statement that they were not properly placed at the point indicated to interfere with any beaten track of pedestrains.

A New Game.

A story comes out of the west of a new game being played in the Badger state. The game is called "Christianity." Here is how they play it. The Christians who are the girls get on side, and the heathen get on the other, and are the heathen; then the heathen cross over and embrace Christianity. They say it has created quite a commotion and that there is no dearth of subjects in play to the part of the heathens.

Marriage in Algeria.

The farther south one travels the earlier come boys and girls arrive at marriageable age. Some census was taken in Algeria, and then it was found that the youngest married "man" was twelve years old and that many "lads" of thirteen had several wives. The average age of the fifteen and a widower of the same age was also discovered. As might be expected, the girls are even more precocious than the boys, and, though twelve is the usual age, many are married at eleven. There were found to be 180 widows of fifteen and no fewer than 1,176 divorced wives of the same age.

A Vigorous Retort.

Lord Emsley, the famous English jeweler, who is a ruler in his trade, was born boudoir creature, and Lord Emsley, who was intensely fond of animals, remonstrated. "Why," said he, "do you tell me, 'it's my own; I mayn't use it if I please?' at the same time applying the words 'my own' to his wife, who, upon the return of the husband, protestingly took his bracelet off, and said, 'It is mine; it is my own; mayn't I use it as I please?'

Breaking.

Once on a time three men broke a "My day will come" thought the horse after submitting to great variety of indignities, and became depressed. It was for such persons that Hoetster's Stomach Bitters was introduced years ago, and many persons to-day are still using it with great success. It positively cures indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and liver and kidney troubles. Don't fail to try it.

Forget Something.

It was in a hotel, and a girl of sixteen had left the table, at which her parents were still seated, and had gone the entire length of the dining room, when she paused in the doorway, and, for her young voice left the air with the word:

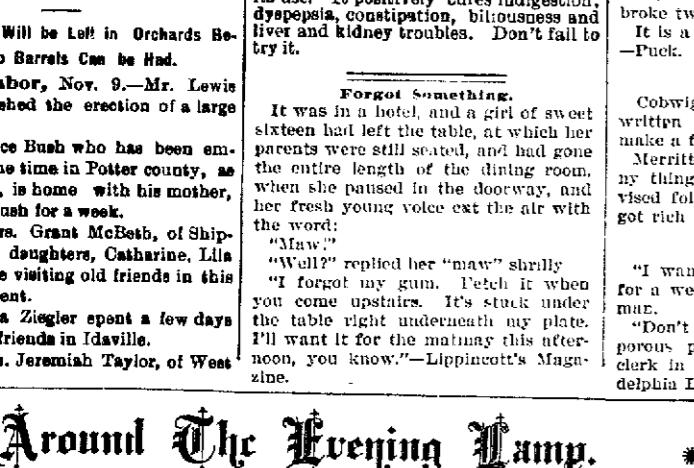

"Maw?"

"Well?" replied her "maw" shrilly. "Forgot my gum. Fetch it when you come upstairs. It's stuck under the sofa, just underneath my plate. I'll want it for the morning this afternoon, you know."—Lippepin's Magazine.

More Suitable.

"I want to get copies of your paper for a week back," said the old gentleman.

"Don't you think you'd better use a porous plaster?" suggested the new clerk in the publication office.—Philadelphia Ledger.

From Brute to Man

(Original)

The mutineers had killed the captain, two mates and won the Alida. The third mate, Edward Webster, had given them so much trouble, killing two of their number, that he was reserved for death by some pronounced torture. They were trying to devise something unique. When passing an island one of them said,

"Tell you, mates, what we'll do. Let's take him ashore and when the tide's out bury him up to his neck in the sand. Then when it turns he'll get the slowest drowning man ever."

There was a shout of approval to this, and several of the men went forward to drop the man over while others lowered a boat from the davits. When all was ready Webster was put into the boat and rowed ashore. The tide had just gone down and it was now about eleven hours before another high water. The mutineers dug a hole at the highest line of foam and put their captive in it, leaving his head free. His arms were folded to his sides. Filling the hole with sand, they hoisted him up to a point opposite her and saw men putting off on a raft. It tumbled for a moment on the crest of a breaker, then withdrew. Each receding wave pulled sand behind and scraped sand in front. He beat forward; his arms were loosened; he dragged himself from his hole.

But the boy limb of the artor panted with a ray of hope. Webster noticed that when the first wave had passed he could not get up on his muscles.

Slowly the relentless ocean advanced. Had it not would have been so awful. Its unceasing, inevitable purpose, its inexorable power. It knew that he had helped to bring about his own destruction.

As the tide rolled in the breakers increased in size and strength. Then came the dawn of day. By this time the extreme line of foam encircled the captive's neck.

And the last ray of hope. Webster noticed that when the first wave had passed he could not get up on his muscles.
